

THE LAST PRAYER.

COMPILED BY STANFORD.

The Sabbath day was ending in a village by the sea.
The tired benighted thought the people there.
And they were to face the sunset in the glowing
glow of the day.
And they were to face the sunset in the glowing
glow of the day.
But they looked across the water and a storm
was raging there.
A fierce spirit moved where then—the wild spirit
of the sea.
And it looked and shook and tore them till they shuddered, ground and moaned.
And also for every vessel in their yawning gulf
moaned.

Very anxious were the people on that rocky
point of land.
Lest the dawn of coming morning should be telling of a loss.
When the sea had spent its passion and should rest upon the shore.
Rites of woe and solemn victims in it had done
before.

When the phylax people hurried from their homes
and through the town.
Oh, for power to cross the waters and the perils
of the sea.

Helpless hands were wrung with sorrow, tears
seared grew cold and numb.
As the ship, urged by the tempest, to the fatal
rock shore sped.

"She has perished in the middle! Oh! the fall of her good dove!"
God have mercy! Is heaven to seek for those
lost?

Let when the white, shrouded faces looked down from the shore.
Only one last clinging hope on the spur was left.

Nearer to the trembling waters came the crowd, bound by the wave.
At the sea wall they stood and waited though
power could save.

"God have mercy! Is heaven to seek for those
lost?"
"God have mercy! Is heaven to seek for those
lost?"

"Was the preacher's hand that took it, and he was the one to say."

Any money shall serve? "Firstly? Secondly?"
"No, no!"

There was but one thing in this awful hour
of woe.
So be it that through the trumpet: "Look to the sea!"

Then they listened. "He is singing, Jesus, lover
of my soul!"
And the sea brought back the echo, "While the never waters roll."

Strange indeed it was to hear him "Till the storm of life is past."
Singing heard from the waters, "Oh, receive my soul at last!"

He could have no other refuge: "Hear ye
his voice?"
Laid out, the singer dropped
into the sea.

And the waters looking upward through their eyes with tears made dim.
Said, "He passed to his with Jesus, in the singing
of that hymn."

MOVE IT.

The Capital Location is Agitating the Minds of the People.

A Few Brief Reasons Why the Capital of Kentucky Should be Located at Louisville.

THE BEST LOCATION.

Under the new constitution the capital must be moved now for the year to come. The State public buildings are worn out. Suitable buildings must now be constructed, and a large sum of money must be expended for the purpose. The capital shall at this time be established
not be regarded as the permanent seat of government. The people can not now afford to make a mistake in the location
selected.

The large sum of money proposed to be expended, and the great importance of a right selection, demand that the permanent and greatest good to the greatest number shall control the location. Louisville is on all accounts the best place for the capital.

IT IS THE LARGEST CITY OF THE STATE.

The former theory that a large city is unfit for the seat of government is wholly unfounded. It originally rested on the fact of the revolutionary war. Happily we of this country are not haunted by this apprehension. It has been suggested that pernicious lobbying would be more effective in a large city than in a small town. This is not true in fact, at the present stage of the world's development. The corrupt lobbyist in this day of rapid and cheap travel finds more capacity in the way of reaching the capital than in any other place, and does, carry with him all the alluring paraphernalia of his profession.
The weaker and the poorer classes and the general public are left behind by his self-interested energy. But in a large city the people and the newspapers are at hand to watch, and publicity is the enemy of corruption. Besides, private and local bills are now done away with,
and this lessens the influence of corruption.

REVENUE.

Louisville offers one Million Dollars to the State. It would not be thrown away.

LOUISVILLE IS THE MOST ACCESSIBLE LOCATION.

Geographically, Louisville is quite near the center of the State. But, regarding location with respect to the line of travel by railway and river, it is considerably far superior to any other place.
A vast majority of the people of the State can reach Louisville more easily and more cheaply than they can reach
any other point in the State.

THE COST OF CONSTRUCTING THE PUBLIC BUILDINGS WOULD BE LESS AT LOU-VILLE THAN AT ANY PLACE
IN THE STATE.

This is true for several reasons. The unimpaired railway facilities of Louisville give her the advantage of cheap and certain transportation for material to be used in construction. The necessary machinery and appliances for the construction of massive buildings can readily be found here. There would have to be transported to any other place or built
there for special use in the construction of the capital.
Here resident artisans would be employed in the work of construction, whereas at any other point it would be necessary to import them.

It is confidently stated by competent architects and builders that the cost of constructing the capital at Louisville will be from ten to fifteen per cent less than at any other point in Kentucky.
If the capital should cost $2,500,000 this would result in a saving of one quarter of a million of dollars to the taxpayers of the State.

HOTEL ACCOMMODATIONS.

Incident to the location of the capital
at a small town are the insufficient hotel accommodations during the sessions of the Legislature and other public assemblies.
The ordinary hotel and living accommodations of a small town are necessarily insufficient at such seasons. This entails temporary contrivances, with all their attendant expense and discomfort.
Louisville the usual accommodations of the hotels and boarding houses would be amply sufficient for all occasions, and would be furnished without additional cost.

HEALTHFULNESS.

The death rate is lower than that of any other city of equal size in the United States, viz: Fayette and one-half to the thousand.

AMENITIES.

One of the greatest causes of delay in legislation is the burden of the taxpayer in the absence of members from the capital. This trouble is always greatly increased when the capital is situated in a small town. The taxpayer is to get away every opportunity.
Outside of the legislative hall there is nothing to interest and entertain the members. The outgoing train every Saturday evening are crowded with members seeking relaxation in the larger cities. The consequence is that the Legislature meets on Monday without a quorum,
and the public business suffers.
This difficulty would be reduced to a minimum if the capital were located at Louisville.

PEOPLE OF THE STATE WOULD BE IN CLOSE CONTACT WITH LEGISLATORS.

AND OTHER PUBLIC OFFICERS.

It is undoubtedly of high importance
that public officers should be as little as possible removed from contact with the people. The legislator should be under the easy observation of those whom he represents. Thousands of people from every part of the State come to Louisville every week of the year. If the Legislature were in session at Louisville each session would likely see the member from his county. This undoubtedly would be a potent beneficial influence upon the member. The people have a right to demand that the Legislature shall sit, and the public offices of the State government shall be located at a point where the greatest number of citizens may have an actual personal knowledge of the conduct of the public business.

THE PUBLIC PRESS CAN MORE FULLY, ACCU- RATELY AND PROMPTLY REPORT THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE LEGISLATURE.

The great daily newspapers of Louisville now have very incomplete reports of proceedings at Frankfort. This would be otherwise if the capital were at Louisville. Each day the people of the State would have faithfully reported to them
all the details of the public business. Publicity is the highest protection against improper legislation.

LOCATION OF THE SEAT OF GOVERNMENT AS INFLUENCING THE BEST MEANS TO EN- GAGE IN PUBLIC AFFAIRS.

It is undoubtedly of high importance
that public officers should be as little as
possible removed from contact with the people. The legislator should be under
the easy observation of those whom he

and is of sufficient size to reap the full benefit of benefit from being the capital city of the State. The number of persons who annually visit the capital from the State and from abroad is great. Many of them would visit in Louisville. The advertisement of the city would be to some effect. The magnificent buildings and grounds would not be hid under a bushel, but would be a matter of just state as well as civic pride. The increasing wealth of Louisville would mean increased wealth and property to the State.
There can be no good reason for depriving a city prepared to reap these suggested advantages of their benefit, especially when her property redounds emphatically to the prosperity of the whole State.

This question is one which should be decided not by sentiment or local prej-

public duty, after thoughtful consideration to the best interest and general welfare of Kentucky.

The Verdict Unanimous.

It places the lawyer and his client, to have the verdict of the jury unanimous. A great jury composed of the American public has rendered a unanimous verdict on Dr. Hale's Household Cough Cure, a medicine, agreeing that it promises a speedy cure for coughs, colds and bronchitis. The verdict was carried out to the letter. This pleasant verdict has not been obtained without great pains taken to make it the best re-

The post-office at Eliza, this county, will be discontinued after June 15.

Mrs. George Griffith Fetter has a very pretty little love story in the current number of Fetter's Southern Magazine.

The good Lord is no respecter of persons, and a cyclone is certain death, but both have been patient with the Kentucky Legislature.

Thos. Schwartz, Jr., has been acquitted of the charge of murder in the endorsement fund of the German Protestant Orphan Asylum, of Louisville.

W. H. Lewis, a negro student at Harvard, has sued the proprietor of a Cambridge barber shop for $5,000 damages because he was refused a shave on account of his color.

Conservatism Montgomery has been in Washington a week. Now, should some of the heads of Republican postmasters in this district go off in a few days, they needn't be surprised.

The boys of the Kentucky Press will witness the delicious exercise of the Kentucky building a new bath at the World's Fair to-day. The News has a representative there, Mr. V. G. Babbage.

It is said that ex-President Harrison lives in retirement at his home at Indianapolis, Ind., and seldom goes out. He is said to be very much interested in the family heresays while at Washington, and is said to wish much on his mind.

United States Marshal Blackburn, accompanied by one hundred and fifty deputies went into Muhlenberg county last week to enforce the collection of railroad taxes. It is feared that trouble will result.

A SPECIAL dispatch, signed by a number of leading citizens, was sent from this city yesterday to Secretary Carlisle, praying the appointment of John P. Foxen, of this county, to the office of collector of the district. It is not yet known if it will be of any avail.

The question of opening the World's Fair on Sunday has not yet been settled. Well, if Uncle Sam has any say in the matter, now is a good time to put it in, and make 'em sit up and respect our American Sabbath.

Is this country it is a rare thing that you ever hear of a Republican voluntarily giving up any kind of an office, but out at Harlanburg last week one did tender his resignation as a member of the City Council.

A CHICAGO hotel-charged the government $500 per year for entertaining the Duke of Veragua one week. Well, it is fortunate for the Duke that the Duke is not still at that hotel or the proprietor might have to take a mortgage on the government to pay the bill.

The people in this country can't understand why they are so grossly misrepresented by their Congressmen. Mr. Montgomery in the fight for the Collector's place. Mr. Montgomery must know from the number of endorsements and petitions sent from this section that Mr. Foxen is the choice of nine-tenths of the voters, and how it is he is making such a bitter fight against him is causing a great deal of talk and a severe criticism of that gentleman's action.

As the time approaches for the appointing of collectors in Kentucky, the situation becomes more interesting at Washington between the several contestants. Mr. Cleveland goes to the summit sometime after this place would be settled about the first of June, and as that time has now arrived, the friends of the several applicants are putting in their best work. For the second District, J. D. Foxen, of Owensboro, seems to be in the lead, but one member of the Congress is opposing him.

The Kentucky building at the World's Fair will be thrown open and dedicated to-day. The ceremonies will be very simple, such as to let the country know that old Kentucky is still in it, and that her people were willing that she should have an exhibit at the Fair. It costs one hundred thousand dollars it is true, but it is a just appropriation, if for no other reason than that our state should not be behind all others and have no exhibit at all. As it is, it is to be hoped that we have a creditable showing there at any rate, and that we have men at the head of the Kentucky building that will give us a respectable service. It is said that old Kentuckians, at all times, find a special welcome awaiting them at the Kentucky department of the great Fair. Let us hope this is true and that every visitor from our state who attends may feel better by it and in his home see something that may make him feel proud of going and that his state is so represented.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do to the body is too great to be paid for by temporary relief. Let us hope this is true and that every visitor from our state who attends may feel better by it and in his home see something that may make him feel proud of going and that his state is so represented.

Down at the hop last Saturday night Mr. Sloan and his party presented the prettiest girl on the board presented with a beautiful bouquet.

Dr. Milton Beard was awarded some honors for being the best dressed gentleman, but some of the boys were inclined to believe there were some fraudulent halos at.

There will have to be a great deal of work done in this town by the city council this summer. The streets and pavements are getting in a bad condition and it will require considerable money to repair them. Nothing improves the appearance of a town more than good streets and sidewalks.

The friends of Dr. N. C. Moely in this vicinity will regret to learn that since the doctor left here for Florida his health has been steadily improving. He and his wife are now at Hendersonville, North Carolina, where they went last spring, hoping another change would be beneficial to the doctor. If you see any hate like mine that you can buy for less than I sell them, come back and get your money—Mrs. H. V. Duncan, the milliner.

The colored excursion from Henderson to Louisville last Saturday night was largely patronized by the colored people of this city, they having filled one coach to overflowing themselves.

Spire Keith says that it pays to advertise. He has received several letters in reply to his ad that he inserted in the News offering to sell the Chapin station, one of them from Texas.

A young son of Mike Popham says that his father is having great trouble with his pony. He hasn't received an egg in a month that wasn't soft shelled, and Mike does not know what to do about it.

A Lov's Koor—Is sometimes hard to get, difficult to sit, at it. The tire we sell are not those of love, but they are lovely and if used judiciously and with proper taste may lead to love ties—Balbagg's.

When the colored people elect their school trustee in this district next Saturday they will also take a vote as to whether they will tax themselves 20 cents on the $100 and $1 out of one, to be spent for general school purposes.

It is surprising with what perseverance Cloverport people fish. The banks of Clover creek are continually lined with people—little, young and old, white and black, male and female, and if anybody has ever yet got a bite the fact has not yet been reported at this office.

Quite a number of Cloverport people went to the Casino last Sunday to attend the K. P. picnic at Witter's Garden. Owing to the inclemency of the weather there was not a great crowd in attendance, but those who were there were glad they went because of the entertaining and pleasant manner, and the evening passed away only too fast and we are now looking forward to the time when we are again invited to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Ditts, of Long Branch, gave an enjoyable dinner last Friday, the 26th inst., it being the 32nd birthday of Mrs. Abe Ditts and his twin sister, Mrs. D. W. Fairleigh. It was a happy day for all present. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Balbagg and children, Mrs. Mrs. D. W. Fairleigh and children, Mr. Frank Ditts, Sr., Mr. John T. Ditts, Mr. Frank Ditts, Jr., and Miss Adelle Ditts.

Miss Lou Shacklett and Rev. Dan Shacklett returned from Louisville last Friday.

Mr. Fred Kaye and little daughter of Vine Grove, spent last Wednesday with our good merchant, Mr. Hoken.

Mrs. H. L. Rhodes and wife, of Garrett, were in town Monday selling their produce and doing their spring trading.

Mr. R. H. Dorell moved from Louisville last week, where he had been to purchase lumber for the new hotel.

Miss Katie Norton has moved in Mrs. Mattie Roberts' cottage, which means another good boarding house for Ekron.

Mr. Warner Shacklett returned from Lexington, where he had been attending school. Our friend Warner thinks he is quite a success in his work, and the girls are of the same opinion.

Ekron has organized a Sunday school of about forty members. Mr. T. J. Jones is superintendent. Mrs. Will Kendall, is secretary. The pupils manifest a great deal of interest in it, and are endeavoring to keep up the good work they have begun.

Our little town was visited by a severe wind storm on the morning of the 24th. The large store house of J. J. Kendall's, occupied by Kaye, Hobbs & Co., was damaged a great deal. Mrs. Roberts' new barn was blown off the foundation. The roof was blown off one side of the depot. The large barn on Mr. Dan Winkler's place was blown down, and a new wagon for Mr. Shacklett. Tinware, clothing and barrels were found a hundred yards from their owner's houses.

We understand that some of our Ekron people attended church at St. Martin's last Sunday. As it was their first visit they were very much in love with the place not only the place, but the people, and the highest compliment we can pay Flaherty and surrounding country, is she has more "handsome boys and pretty girls" than any place we know of in this county. We hope in the near future to have the pleasure of listening to another one of the Rev. Father's splendid sermons.

We agree with the Brandenburg correspondent in saying every one should read the county paper. Although it is not through the papers we learned of her jealousy for Ekron, we received the information from some of her citizens. We will not fall out over the matter, if there is anything we desire, it is "cut throat" through the columns of newspapers. So let us have the "tommy hawk."

I my self have some dear friends in Brandenburg and some very dear ones that have lived there in the past. So it is perfectly natural I should entertain tender feelings for the place. I expect to visit there in the fall and distant future and extend the same invitation to my friends, also strangers, and we will all unite in making their stay a pleasant one.

HAD YOU HEARD

That Cousin Jim Bramlett had gone to carrying the boat?

That Cousin Jim Bramlett has no best girl, isn't he to be gilded?

That Johnny Many makes frequent calls on our milliner?

That a "Gentleman" makes most-moultly visits to our town on Sunday?

That Uncle Sam Wether says he will go to the World's Fair "by gun" if he has to walk?

That from the way Geo. Guedry talks he left his "heart on the banks of the old Tennessee?"

That there is talk of one of our merchants becoming a "Bundell" in the course of a couple of months?

McDANIELS.

Mr. Chas. Jarboe was in Glendene this week.

Mr. McClure, of Harpersville, was here this week.

Mr. John Mercer is collecting taxes this week.

Mr. Tom McDonald was in Louisville this week.

Rev. E. N. Metcalfe was in Louisville this week.

The straw-crowd here is almost an entire failure.

Mrs. A. G. Glasecock was visiting in town this week.

Mrs. Horace Hunter is visiting her son Mr. Hunter.

Mrs. Sue Mercer is here the guest of Mrs. John Mercer.

Mr. Bill Hunter is quite sick. He had a slight convulsive chill.

Mr. John Moore and wife visited at Mr. Ned Cannon last week.

Mrs. Tom Frank was here this week visiting her mother, Mrs. Hunter.

Rev. B. A. Cumfitt has returned home after spending one month in Miss, and different points in Ky.

The heavy wind through here Tuesday morning did some damage, blowing down barns and fences.

Quite a crowd from here have been failing, but as they failed to send us a fish, we shall ask the Editor to give them a "pull."

Misses Chas. Jarboe, M. Pumphrey, Jr., Bill Decker and Dr. McMillen engaged in a lively cut race one evening this week.

Mr. Horace Hunter is in Louisville and will probably remain nearly all summer. He is greatly amused especially in the Sunday school.

We do not blame the Ekron correspondent for doing a little "crowing" over the college. The majority of us would be inclined to do the same thing.

We heard a gentleman make a strange comparison the other day. It was that a gentleman shaving off his beard was similar to a farmer cleaning out fence corners.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen, quite a nice looking elderly couple of Ulies, Davison county, are here the guests of Mrs. Rina Cannon. Mrs. Owen is a sister to Mrs. Cannon's mother.

We just had a pleasant call, Mr. Brown, of Garrett, formerly of Yorkville, who is visiting at Mr. Ned Cannon's. His wife, who is also with him, is an aunt of Mrs. Cannon.

How the Republicans did down and the Democrats did up when Mr. Jake Chancellor rode up to the post-office and in his unique way introduced the new "carrier" as President Harrison, preceded by the remark, "I suppose you have heard of him."

We were slightly indisposed and failed to attend the exercises at Cave Spring last Sunday. Our town was well represented and all report a very pleasant time. They are not only loud in their praises of the exercises, but say the dinner was all that could be desired, nice and plenty of it.

Just as we are closing our letter we hear that Mr. Moore McDonald formerly of this place but now of Chattanooga, Tenn., is here visiting his father and family. We have never had the pleasure of meeting Mr. McDonald, but all friends are fond in their praises he certainly must be an exceptional young gentleman.

We Never Thought It.
